H.I.S. Mission Statement: To encourage people with disabilities, their families and friends to achieve an enriched quality of life through physical, emotional, social, spiritual and educational development using the dynamics of therapeutic horseback riding.

What is therapeutic riding?

Therapeutic riding is physical therapy and psychotherapy that includes, but is not limited to, a number of mutually respectful equine activities such as handling, grooming, and riding.

Therapeutic riding promotes exploration of healing benefits available through contact and involvement with equine. This interaction takes place in an educational atmosphere where learning comes by doing.
